Funeral Ministry: Newbridge, Naas and Clane Parishes have lay funeral ministers who help the priests at times when they are very busy. These ministers may say prayers in the home when someone dies. Other Parishes are being offered the opportunity of training for new lay funeral ministers. Time table is as follows: Early October – come and see evening for parishioners and priests for the whole diocese. One week later – Parish meeting to discuss. Training Early November & Early December 2 Afternoons of training. January - Minister will accompany priest to assist at prayers at wake. February will be training & March – Commissioning of Ministers. June - Check in and reporting back from new ministers.

Over the next two weeks we hope to talk about this new programme, to see if it would be useful and helpful for Carbury Parish. We will check with people who could potentially be ministers and see about submitting a list of names to the diocese by 12th July. Comments and observations are welcome.

Quotes from Amoris Laetitia: “The sacrament of marriage is not a social convention, an empty ritual or merely the outward sign of commitment. The sacrament is a gift given for the sanctification and salvation of the spouses, since their mutual belonging is a real representation, through the sacramental sign, of the same relationship between Christ and the Church. The married couple are therefore a permanent reminder for the Church of what took place on the cross; they are for one another and for their children, witnesses of the salvation in which they share through the sacrament”

Carbury GFC are honoured to announce An Evening of Celebration where GAA President, Aogán Ó Feargháil, will officially launch “The Frank Burke Story” by Gerry Cummins and Éanna De Búrca at the Club's grounds on Thursday 21st of July next at 7.00pm. Carbury native Frank Burke is one of the most decorated players in the history of the GAA. Winner of 5 Senior All-Ireland Medals (3 Football and 2 Hurling) with Dublin, he was widely regarded as the outstanding player of his generation. On completion of his primary education at Derrinturn N.S., Frank moved to St. Enda's Rathfarnham and later to UCD where he distinguished himself as a scholar and a sportsman. Frank was in the GPO during the 1916 Easter Rising and was afterwards interned at Frongoch in Wales. He later succeeded Pádraig Pearse as headmaster of St. Enda's. He played for Dublin against Tipperary on Bloody Sunday when his immediate opponent, Michael Hogan, was fatally shot. The evening's entertainment will include two football games at 5.30pm: Under 14 – Carbury v Balyna and at 8pm, Senior – Carbury v Johnstownbridge. We are delighted to have the Sam Maguire Cup and the Dermot Bourke Cup on display in the Clubhouse for the evening. We will be joined on the evening by the book's authors, Carbury man Gerry Cummins and Éanna De Búrca, son of Frank. Well known GAA journalist Eugene McGee has agreed to edit a special commemorative programme for the event and this will feature many articles of sporting and historical interest. All are welcome to join us for what promises to be a very special occasion for our Club. Admission is free.

A Parishioner has blackcurrant berries available for picking or for making jam. They are free of charge for anyone who would like them. For more information please call 087 4180549.
