Our Synodal Diocesan Synthesis

It makes for good reading. If you haven't yet seen it, it is published on Kandle.ie. It is not surprising to note that Our Diocese, Our Parishes, contain in a real way, those who are at opposite poles –those who feel we are not Catholic enough, in the sense of holding to traditional teachings, live alongside those who feel we would be more Catholic in embracing more modern approaches. These disparate groups must co- exist as Church, as neither can have complete satisfaction without the dissatisfaction of the other. There are many voices within our church, and it's in the holding together of these voices that we are most fully church. I spoke with priests last night from many dioceses across the country; the experience here is no different than anywhere else. Most dioceses including ourselves missed the opportunity of gathering priests and deacons together to reflect on the synod questions. That omission is noted in our own synthesis. The appreciation of the local priest shines through our report and many other ones. I witness this from my visits to parishes in the Clane, Kildare, Naas, Portlaoise and Mountrath. I look forward to being in Tullow twice over the weekend. In September, I will write the promised Pastoral Letter to every parish, to every religious community on what I'm hearing, the need to rationalise Masses, the need to work more closely in cluster groupings and the need to think in terms of five years time rather than today. With the letter, I will attach a draft map on where I feel the cluster groupings are emerging and ask each Pastoral Area to widen that discussion to include the lay faithful, partners in our parishes to agree to those groupings. I envisage that diocesan changes will be minimal over the next two years to allow the pastoral areas and cluster groupings to bed down. Conversations are at an early stage with Ossory and Ferns regarding the shared training of lay people for roles that would include administration, pastoral leadership, and catechists. I know such roles would very much compliment the pastoral areas and cluster groupings. I have asked the Diocesan Commission for Liturgical Formation to commence the training of teams in the autumn for leading prayer on Sundays in the sudden and unavoidable absence of a priest or to allow for holidays.

DPC News

The Diocesan Pastoral Council will meet again in September. These summer months are a good time for all of us, to reflect on how the five themes identified by the DPC link into what has been expressed in our synod synthesis presently among clergy but to be extended to include others. Season of Creation

The Season of Creation will take place, as in other years, from September 1-October 4. Care of the earth and care of the poor are central to our faith and this is an invaluable opportunity to highlight this in our parishes. Resources will be available on <https://seasonofcreation.org/> Listen to the Voice of Creation is this year's theme. The burning bush is the symbol for 2022. Today, the prevalence of unnatural fires are a sign of the devastating effects that climate change has on the most vulnerable of our planet. Creation cries out as forests crackle, animals flee, and people are forced to migrate due to the fires of injustice. On the contrary, the fire that called to Moses as he tended the flock on Mt. Horeb did not consume or destroy the bush. This flame of the Spirit revealed God's presence. This holy fire affirmed that God heard the cries of all who suffered, and promised to be with us as we followed in faith to our deliverance from injustice. In this Season of Creation, this symbol of God's Spirit calls us to listen to the voice of creation.

Rita Lenehan (née Nally) (Drehid Cross, Carbury, Co. Kildare)

On the First Anniversary of Rita's sudden death

Our family wish to offer our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, neighbours and Members of the community who provided support for us during this difficult time.

We were deeply touched by the many cards, letters, calls, flowers, and beautiful online tributes. Your kindness and generosity was a source of great comfort to us all.

To those who helped in any way, your contribution made our loss more bearable.

As it would be impossible to thank everyone individually,

Please accept this acknowledgement as an expression of our deepest gratitude.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered for your intentions.
